Hobby-Expo, LLC Announces New Denver Show

Hobby-Expo, LLC is pleased to announce the inauguration of the Rocky Mountain Hobby-Expo, which will take place on October 28th and 29th, 2017 in Denver, CO.

The show, sponsored by the Hobby Manufacturers Association, will be a combined consumer/trade show covering all categories of the hobby industry. The 2017 show will be a two day consumer-focused event expanding to 4 days via inclusion of a trade component in 2018. This approach allows a solid consumer base to be built in advance of manufacturers attendance. Despite the initial consumer focus, manufacturers are encouraged to attend the 2017 show to support this endeavor as well as guarantee first choice of space for 2018.

The event will be held in a 120,000 square foot space the Denver Mart, a non-union convention facility located in Denver, Colorado with close proximity to Interstate Highways 25 and 70. The facility is easily reached from Denver International Airport, which offers direct flights to over 150 United States and 20 international destinations.

The show will be run by Jim Marski, Executive Director of the Rocky Mountain Train Show. Jim's operational and finance experience has resulted in the train show's attendance growing from 1,500 to over 10,000 and showcasing 30 national manufacturers.

The mission of Rocky Mountain Hobby-Expo is twofold, first to promote and educate the public about family oriented hobbies throughout the Rocky Mountain Region and beyond by providing information and inspiration to new and existing hobbyists and, second to provide a cost-effective medium for hobby manufacturers to reach retailers and consumers via a single coordinated event.
